

Identity management in an online world

- Is multiple or federated identity relevant to the mass consumer market?
- What will make consumers take privacy seriously?
- What roles should the public and private sectors play in the provision of ID services?